RODEO ON SATURDAY

Scenic Trips Thurs., Fri.

The opportunity to see Coleman's scenic beauty and industry has been arranged for visitors on July 2 and 3 with trips planned for Livingstone Falls and Tent Mountain Strip mine. Details were not definite at time of writing but it has been stated that the trip to Livingstone Falls will start from Coleman at 10 a.m. on July 2 while the Tent Mountain trip will start here at 2 p.m. July 3.

It is planned that the Livingstone Falls trip along the scenic Kananaskis road, will include a picnic at the falls, tea and coffee being provided. Information regarding transportation and other matters can be obtained from the committee under Harry Boulton.

The Mayors Message

I am indeed proud to be Mayor of Coleman on its fiftieth anniversary and to be able to share with its citizens, old and new, the joys of a half a century of progress.

As we celebrate this anniversary, we become conscious of the fact that we have acquired a certain amount of security and our achievements in the whole have been, generally speaking, not altogether of a material nature. Our greater asset has been of a community betterment, a town where people are kind and neighborly and have interest in the welfare of others at heart, are wealthier in the things that matter most.

There is not much point in growing older unless we can grow better. Each anniversary should be a milestone along the highway of progress and achievement. It is in this spirit that we celebrate our anniversary and gain confidence from the past to undertake the more difficult tasks and problems of the future.

To the old citizens who came back to celebrate with us I want to say welcome and enjoy with us this celebration as if you have always been here. This is your town as it used to be. To those who are visiting for the first time, I hope we can make you feel at home, as we surely will try. To those who have worked hard in hand, for weeks and months to make this celebration a success, our most sincere thanks and the gratitude of the citizens, the council and myself.

Variety Program

The fact that Coleman is well endowed with talent will be shown on July 2 and 3 with the Coleman Board of Trade presents "Yours to Remember" a pleasing two-hour talent show that will trace the changing times of Coleman during the past half century. The show will take place in the arena starting at 8 p.m. each night.

Considerable work has gone into training the performers, making of costumes, stage erection and the suitable lighting, all combining to bring you the greatest show ever held in the Falls.

All Preparations Completed

The covers come off Coleman's 8th annual rodeo on Saturday afternoon when competitors from Canada and the States vie for the honors. Preparations have been completed for the thrill packed day and a top ranking show assured.

Concessions have been arranged and all booths on the grounds will be staffed as to supply fast service. Hon. Ivan Casey, representing the Alberta government, will officially open the show, and Warren Cooper will act as announcer.

Top ranking cowboys will pit their skills in such events as Bronco Riding, Steer Wrestling, Calf Roping, Brahma Bull Riding and Wild Cow Milking, special trophies for each event being provided by the Coleman merchants.

When the dust is settled and the show is over this year's rodeo is sure to be voted the best yet. A lot of work and planning has gone into the show and is worthy of your support.

A Message From The Board of Trade Pres.

After months of organization at committee meetings, hard work, rehearsals and other phases attendant in making Coleman's 50th Anniversary an occasion long to be remembered, the undertaking, sponsored and promoted by your Board of Trade, is now in the final stages. This year, more people are actively engaged in the festivities for the five days commencing July 1st, than in any other similar community effort in the Town's history.

To the producers of the variety show "Yours to Remember," the technicians, stage managers and cast; to the advertisers, in particular to those who compiled the Fiftieth Anniversary Booklet; to the chairman of the various committees; to those who have worked long hours at the arena and at the rodeo field at tasks which are apt to go unrecognized, the Coleman Board of Trade is deeply grateful.

To the former residents of Coleman, distinguished guests and visitors who will join in our Anniversary celebrations, we ex-

THRILLS AND LAUGHS IN STORE FOR RODEO

Thrills are in store for rodeo patrons this year when Calgary Red goes through his performance as slack rope artist. Local people who have seen this fellow in action speak highly of his performance and back up the great publicity that he has received. His feats must be seen to be appreciated.

Laughs galore are in store for Rodeo patrons when Bobby Hill and Buddy Heaton meet wild bulls with only their humor and agility as weapons. These stop ranking cowboys are sure to chase your blues away and amaze you with the antics of their trained animals. Both are playing repeat performances here and guarantee to surpass the performances that have pleased past rodeo crowds.

Following the rodeo circuit this year and expected to take part in the Coleman show are many of those who thrilled you in the past. Men like George Aldoff, Reg. Kessler, Bob Duce, Brian Butterfield, Carl Olson, Frank Duce and Elwood Tolton are making names for themselves again this year and will most likely attend the rodeo here to add to their circuit points.

Frank Duce walked away with first in the bronc riding with saddle at Cardston while George Aldoff placed first in bareback and tend a warm and cordial welcome.

It is our earnest wish that the same community feeling of friendship, co-operation and good-will experienced during the past months will prevail throughout the Jubilee Year and the years ahead and when our many visitors return to their homes, only the best impressions of kindness, hospitality and fond memories will be carried back.

V. K. Hill
President
Coleman Board of Trade

bronc riding, Kessler was acclaimed champion cowboy at the Edmonton show while Bob Duce was the top money winner. Brian Butterfield placed second in steer decorating while Olson was the leading bronc rider.

Next Saturday it is expected that these men and countless others will take to action in the local rodeo grounds and give the fans the same fine performance that pleased Edmonton and Cardston crowds.

W. Antle Retires As Police Chief

Demund Corson assumes the duties of Chief of Police on July 1 on the retirement of Wm. Antle. An active sportsman, Mr. Corson has had varied experience in police work and an interest in community affairs.

He entered police work in 1941, joining the B.C. provincial police and later serving with the Mounties when they took over the policing in B.C. During his career he has served at Victoria, Courtenay, Campbell River, Smithers and Burns Lake area, and Revelstoke.

William Antle, Chief of Police, D.C.M., concludes nearly 19 years as service to Coleman on July 1st, being replaced by Mr. Corson. Chief Antle was a forest ranger in the area for 19 years and up until four years ago served Coleman in the capacity of Fire Chief.

It takes about a day and a half to build a car or truck at the General Motors plant in Oshawa. At peak production times, vehicles come off the line at the rate of nearly one a minute.

PARADE

The Coleman Rodeo Parade, already well known for its high quality, promises to be even better this year.

Starting at 10 a.m. the parade will feature colorful cowboys, floats and bands giving the camera fans a worthwhile subject. Increase in the number of floats is expected this year due to the fact that it is the 50th anniversary of the town. Already signifying their intentions to enter floats are Blaimore, the Lime Kilns, Lundbreck and the Coal companies. It is fairly certain that most of the local business places will be represented by a float.

Auction Sale

Want to buy something for the pantry, the house, the car or for yourself and save money? If you do be sure and attend the auction sale at the vacant lot next to the theatre Saturday morning just after the parade.

Merchants and wholesale houses throughout the country have donated their products to this event making it the largest auction ever to be held locally and under the direction of a professional auctioneer.

Look over the varied list of goods that will be put under the hammer and see how you can take a swat at the high cost of living.

A NEW PLANT, described as the only one of its kind in the world and designed to produce phenol and acetone from petroleum, was officially put into production by Hon. Robert Winters, Minister of Resources, Mr. Winters referred to the new Montreal plant as making Canadian history—not only by introducing the first large-scale manufacture of phenol in Canada, but bringing down the cost of producing acetone, making this country self-sufficient in both. (Phenol, commonly known as carbolic acid, is used in the manufacture of dozens of such common-place materials as synthetic resins and adhesive glues, plastics which go into telephones, refrigerators, radio cabinets and other furniture; wood veneers, detergents and lubricating oils. Acetone is used in synthetic fabrics, lacquers, synthetic rubber, pharmaceuticals, plastics and paint remover.) The new, five-acre, $4,000,000 plant was put up by a new organization known as B.A.-Shawinigan Limited, a partnership between British American Oil Company Limited and Shawinigan Chemicals Limited.

HOT MUTTON—Raising radioactive sheep is one way of determining effects of radiation on living things. These pure-bred Suffolk sheep are part of a herd of 200 at the Harford Plutonium plant near Richland, Wash. Fed varying amounts of radioactive iodine, the animals will tell scientists what the results might be if radioactive materials were suddenly released in great amounts into the atmosphere.

The importance of the Suez Canal to Britain's lifeline is seen in the above map. Egyptian pressure on England to leave the canal zone will bring about a possible breakup of British influence in the Middle East. ## OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

The Barrel Explosion Gave Snider One — For Keeps.

By KERRY WOOD

"I'M KILLING you now, Hartley!" whispered Snider, and he pressed the trigger. . . .

Hartley walked slowly down the mountainside. Ben Hartley, of Hartley and Snider, the city's best brokerage team. School chums, they'd joined forces on leaving college.

"I'm two dollars richer than you," Hartley chuckled as they counted their total initial assets.

"That makes you the senior partner," Snider grinned. "We'll make it: Hartley and Snider."

It had been a struggle at first, but Hartley was a go-getter with people and Snider was careful. Hartley called his lean partner The Brain, while Snider jabbed Ben's paunch and hailed him as The Front.

"We're getting along, but I'm against joining this country club," protested Snider. "We can't afford it."

"Come on, miser," Hartley boomed. "It's got prestige and people in gobs."

They met Marion at the club, becoming friendly rivals at once. Three fun-packed weeks later, she made her choice. Snider shook Ben's hand in congratulation and Marion gave him a kiss.

"The first boy gets named after you, chum," Hartley said. "You'll be the rich uncle."

"Sure," nodded Snider, "and you may not be fooling—if you'd quit plunging."

But Ben's plunging turned out well and they were on main street. Curiously, it was Hartley who became cautious on a deal that Snider favored.

"It's the big chance," Snider declared.

"Too risky," Ben vetoed.

Snider privately cursed Ben's stubborn streak and convinced of a gold-en opportunity, plunged with his own resources. He "borrowed" from the firm to recoup, losing that money too. In panic, he confessed to Ben.

"Well—" Hartley was suddenly grave. "It's not playing fair — Ah, forget it! I'll write you a cheque on my own account and we'll see it through together."

The delinquent partner managed a smile of gratitude, but that's when he began to hate Hartley. His chance came when Hartley got a letter from a mutual friend who'd become, of all things, a forest ranger. Tubby Jensen wrote a glowing account of his outdoor life.

"Let's go for a he-man holiday," Hartley boomed. "Let's go hunting!"

Snider agreed, and they went boisterously out to buy the gear that city sportsmen need to shoot a deer or whatever it was Jensen could show them. Tubby howled when he saw the array. "Greenhorns! Tenderfoot with bums! You guys have enough junk to outfit an expedition."

"Look, Tubby," Snider showed his rifle. "It got a 30.06 calibre, while Ben bought a .270. Which is best?"

"They're both okay."

The thin man smiled; choosing a different calibre had been his own secret idea, and Jensen played further into his hand. "I must pack gear up to the look-out man on the west mountain. While I'm gone, you fool around. You may get a moose — they're on the move. Day after tomorrow, I'll show you some sheep hunting that is hunting!"

Snider was now decided. Hunting accidents are commonplace; besides, everyone knew that Hartley was a careless sort and inexperienced.

So they said good-bye to Tubby and set out. When they were three miles from the cabin, a black shape loomed out of the bush and Hartley flung up his rifle and fired. Miraculously, the animal went down.

"I got him!" he yelled. "A bull moose!"

He dropped his rifle and whipped out a knife, remembering what he'd read in magazines about bleeding the kill. He raced forward. Behind his back, Snider's gloved hands picked up Hartley's rifle, ejected the empty and rammed the bolt down on a live cartridge.

"Hartley!" he called.

His partner looked up from his bloody task. His happy triumph drained.

"I've hated you for a long time, Hartley. You took Marion from me, and you've played the high and mighty all these years with your crazy luck. Now I'm settling the score. It's murder—but no one else will know! I'll explain how you cooked your gun for a second shot, then stumbled."

"Snider!"

"I'm killing you now, Hartley!" whispered Snider, and he pressed the trigger. . . .

"I've always been a careless sort," Ben told Jensen that evening. "I must have chuckled that gun down without thinking. When Snider pointed it, I saw the muzzle was plugged with mud."

"That'll always make a heavy rifle blow up," Tubby nodded. "Well, he asked for it. He planned an accident, and that barrel explosion sure gave him one—for keeps!"

ANSWERS TO QUICK QUIZ

ANSWERS: 5. Ontario, with Saskatchewan second. 3. Quebec. 1. Yes, in the early years of this century, when Ottawa's aggressive immigration policy brought in a million Americans. 4. Quebec. 2. About a million and a quarter; primary textiles is the biggest employer. (Material supplied by the editors of Quick Canadian Facts, the handbook of facts about Canada.)

Actions speak louder than words.

VERSATILE GROUP—Canadian National Expressmen in Montreal are a pretty versatile group and recently demonstrated their ability in the care and feeding of 375 pounds of Manitoba wildlife. The shipment—four timber wolf pups, three young badgers and six porcupines—arrived by rail en route to the Whipsnade Zoo in London, Eng. They were supplied by Winnipeg's Assiniboine Park Zoo following a telephone call from Whipsnade officials offering to trade some yaks for the timber wolf pups. Here Sam Jordan, of the express department, strikes up a friendship with one of the furry wolf pups.

Winners In Weekly Paper Competitions

At the annual convention of the Manitoba division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, following are winners in the newspaper competitions:

Awards for the best all-round weekly newspapers in Manitoba were presented to the Virden Empire-Advance in the over 1,250 circulation class, and to the Winkler Progress in the under 1,250 class.

J. R. McLachland, editor of the Virden paper, and Harvey Friesen, editor of the Winkler Progress, received the awards from Cecil Lamont, manager of the Grain and Milling Advertising Service Ltd., at the 34th annual convention of the Manitoba division, Canadian Weekly Newspapers association.

The best weekly editorial award in the province went to the Selkirk Enterprise, edited by George Kraft, managing secretary of the Manitoba division.

The Altona Echo and the Dauphin Herald and Press placed second and third in the more than 1,250 class of the best all-round paper competition, and the Fort Lacombe and the Portage Enterprise took second and third honors in the less than 1,250 class.

In the editorial page contest, Miss Helen Marsh of the Dauphin Herald took second prize, and Mrs. Dorothy Ridge of the Dolomite Times, third.

The Clark trophy for commercial printing went to David K. Friesen of the Altona Echo.

Road And Bridge Improvements

Seven miles of the Jasper-Banff Highway are to be re-built by the National-Parks Branch of the federal government. This is to eliminate bends and improve the shoulders. The Miette River bridge of reinforced concrete and the trestle bridges at Sulphur and Villeneuve Creeks on the Miette Hot Springs road are being replaced by steel spans.

The great white shark, which sometimes reaches a length of 40 feet, is one of the largest, swiftest and most voracious of sharks.

THE TILLEN

LEARN TO SWIM

The second of a series of four articles by Bevan Lawson, Saskatchewan Director of Swimming and Water Safety for the Canadian Red Cross.

At The Beach

The first time you get to a beach this summer be sure that the shallow water part is safe, and do not go in unless there is an older person with you who can help you, and stay close to shore in waist-deep water.

The first thing to do is to get into the water and get wet—all over, of course. Then get down on your hands and knees and practice putting your head right under. Then try the breathing several times in a row. Blow bubbles slowly then turn your head and grab a quick breath, turn your face back in and blow more bubbles.

The Sleighride

Face shore in waist-deep water, spread your feet, one in front of the other, crouch down until your chin is in the water. Now, put both arms straight out in front of you with the palms of your hands flat on the water. What do you know—your arms float! Push them down under water and soon they will float to the surface again. Well now that you are crouched down and hands out in front, hold your breath, put your face into the water, lean forward and push off the bottom, and you will slide through the water toward shore. Keep your arms and legs straight and your head down, with ears under. Look at the picture. You should do this Sleighride over and over again.

How to Stand Up

After a Sleighride you'll want to stand up—its easy—just (1) push your knees in to your chest (2) push your arms down on the water—look in the picture. You should practise this in waist-deep water with someone in the water with you. But don't try to touch bottom with your hands, and don't lift your head 'till your feet are on the bottom.

Jelly Fish Float

This is easy to do. In waist-deep water take a deep breath, bend down and touch your toes. Hold this position and you will float with your back out of water. Swimmers sometimes get cramps in their legs and the experts use the Jelly Fish Float.

position so their hands are free to massage the cramped muscles. It is also used when swimmers wish to get out of their clothing in an emergency.

Sand Crawling

Here is how you can learn a simple leg kick. You must learn to use your very strong leg muscles before you do anything with your arms. So here we go Sand Crawling. Do a Sleigh Ride, then push yourself along by digging your toes into the sand—left foot then right foot—dig—push, dig—push. Soon you won't touch the bottom with your toes at all and your legs kicking up and down will work you forward towards shore. Keep that head in the water! Keep your arms straight out in front.

Dog Paddle

When you have your leg kick going pretty well, you can start to imitate a dog. Do a Sleigh Ride, then pull your left arm straight down — then your right. Keep your hands going as though you were digging in the sand. Reach well forward with each hand. If you can, watch a dog's front paws to get the idea. Don't go too fast, take it easy. Keep trying. After you get the arms and legs working together pretty well, try turning your head to grab a breath. Remember to blow the air out underwater. If this is too much to do all at once, hold your head up, but you can expect some mouthfuls because your head is heavy and keeps pushing you up. Just remember it takes time to learn to do anything.

Next week we will tell you how to go about floating and swimming on your back. Until then, keep practicing lesson one and lesson two. Whatever you do, don't go into any water unless you have someone with you who can help you in case of trouble. It's shallow water for you for a long time yet.

Buffalo Return To Old Haunts

Waterton Lakes National Park has an additional tourist attraction this year. After an absence of more than 50 years, buffalo may again be seen in this wildlife sanctuary.

In April, six head of buffalo were moved from Elk Island National Park, east of Edmonton, to Waterton Lakes National Park, to a special enclosure. The first calf of this new herd was born a few days after the animals' arrival.

AN OPEN LETTER TO BILL HOLYK

Dear Bill:

Looked through a copy of the booklet that you guided from an idea to the finished product and think you did a real job. It is good to see that the stock chosen was of high gloss book paper that blended with the many fine pictures that you selected. The quality of the booklet speaks loudly in the feeling that Colemanites have in their home town.

Fourteen years in this business has proved that one is criticised for those things they failed to do, yet never praised for the things accomplished. Your booklet deserves praise for covering the history of Coleman and you deserve praise for the singlehanded job that stole time from your own business. Granted you will hear complaints that this was not mentioned or that so and so was here before John Doe, but on the whole the people of Coleman appreciate your efforts. Those that complain do so possibly for strictly personal reasons.

Closing out the Journal's anniversary issue after months of work, we can appreciate the hours of work and consideration that you have given to this community effort at expense to yourself. This letter is published to say thank you from the people of Coleman.

The Editor.

Criss-cross your tires at intervals of 4,000 to 5,000 miles to compensate for the different rate of wear on each "corner" of your car. General Motors engineers advise. When tires are switched at 4,000-mile intervals, your car will have gone 20,000 miles while the mileage on each individual tire will be only 16,000.

Adjustable front seats for passenger cars were invented and patented by General Motors of Canada in 1920.

Council met Tuesday night with Mayor Aboussafy, councillors Ramsay, Wavrean and Toppano in attendance.

During the opening session Mr. Corson, new Coleman policeman outlined that work that has been done and the manner that he will follow in policing the town. He also listed the needs for this work and ask that the council supply them.

The fire report showed that three calls had been answered and that the average attendance had been 13. Plans were underway for the hose laying competition and a grant was requested from the town. This request was granted.

Bylaw 264 covering the rules and regulations of the Coleman Light and Water received its first and second readings.

Considerable time was spent regarding cemeteries and their maintenance with the matter left in the hands of the committee. A delegation of one asked for work to pay off taxes the council turning the request down on the basis that this policy could not be given to anyone person without setting a precedent.

Police were ordered to check up on dogs running at large as strays were still roaming and causing those people obeying the law to complain.

Mayor Aboussafy reported visiting councillor Wood who is in hospital in Calgary. The council favored sending Mr. Wood a small gift.

The council's share of Coronation costs was presented and authorized for payment.

The first coast-to-coast crossing of Canada by automobile over an all-Canadian route did not occur until 1946. In that year Brig. R. A. MacFarlane and Kenneth MacGillivray of Toronto drove a stock model Chevrolet from Louisburg, N.S. to Victoria, B.C., in nine days to win a trophy unclaimed since 1912.

The offering of hydraulic power steering gears in passenger cars is the culmination of more than twenty years of engineering, experimentation and development work by General Motors.

Miners Vote Acceptance Of Arbitration Award

Crows Nest Pass and Lethbridge members of District 18, United Mine Workers of Canada voted yesterday in favor of an arbitration board award for a contract between the union and Alberta coal mine operators. Up to noon today, returns from other provincial coal-mining centres were not available, but the government-supervised vote here indicates a provincial trend.

Lethbridge and Shaughnessy miners voted largely in favor of the arbitration board award, reversing their previous decision. Of a total vote of 207, there were 146 favoring the award and 56 against, with five spoiled ballots. Of 181 miners on Crows Nest, 8 mine eligible to vote, 105 cast ballots. They voted 69 for, 32 against and four spoiled.

From Federal mine employees, 20 of the 24 eligible to vote did so. There were 16 favoring the award, three opposed and one spoiled ballot.

From the 22 Shaughnessy mine employees eligible to vote, 82 did so. There were 61 "yes" votes, 21 "no", and no spoiled ballots.

Pass Vote Decisive

Blairmore—A government supervised vote, under the Alberta Labor Act, with regard to acceptance or rejection of the majority award of the arbitration board was held in the 3 Crows Nest Pass mining towns on Wednesday. The vote was for acceptance by decisive majorities.

The main points of the majority award constituted the following:

1. Increase in welfare and retirement payments to the 20 cents per ton, instead of present 15 cents per ton.
2. Free wash house facilities.
3. The present arrangement with regard to holidays now in effect, to remain the same for one more year.

The result of the vote supervised by government returning officers was as follows: Coleman, 594 yes, 103 no, five spoiled ballots; Blairmore, 336 yes, 29 no and two spoiled ballots; Bellevue, 220 yes, no 38, and one spoiled ballot.

Liberals Organize

Blairmore — An organization meeting of the Blairmore supporters of J. J. McIntyre, Liberal Candidate for the Macleod constituency in the next federal election was held in the Union Hall in Blairmore, on Friday evening at which time T. J. Costigan, vice president for the Macleod constituency, presided over the meeting.

J. J. McIntyre, present at the meeting, gave a brief address. A publicity committee was appointed to act in conjunction with publicity committees from Bellevue, Hillcrest and Coleman.

It was the feeling of the meeting that energetic measures should be taken to inform the electors of the Crows Nest Pass of the necessity of having a member on the Government side there being no doubt whatsoever in the next administration — that the Liberal Government will be returned to power.

To conclude the meeting, L. L. Morgan of Blairmore, thanked the candidate for accepting nomination and for devoting his time, money, and energy in the interest of the peoples of the constituency.

Meet your Liberal candidate JOE McIntyre

Joe McIntyre was born on Cape Breton Island and entered his profession as a boy "trapper" on Glace Bay mine roadway. After returning to High School, he went back to the mine; drove horses, dug coal and passed through all stages of a miner's work. Gruelling days in the mine were followed by busy evenings at mining school. Later Joe attended King's University Engineering school.

Then... west to Pincher Creek, working underground in the Beaver Mines development, and on to the mountain mines west of Edmonton as a mine manager. The year 1920 saw Joe McIntyre back in the Crowsnest Pass, to become managing director of one mine, general manager of another. During the war he built up productivity, made his area best-but-one producer of coal in Canada.

Joe McIntyre married Miss Mary Cadagan of Glace Bay. They have nine children and share a common interest in gardening and reading. He sought the Liberal nomination because he is keenly aware of the need to back the drive for markets for farm produce and coal. "The war problems of production are over," declares Joe McIntyre. "Our job today is — to GO AFTER MARKETS!"

Canada's Population Increasing

OTTAWA.—Canada's population stood at 14,992,000 at March 1 this year, an increase of 68,000 over the previous three months and a jump of 376,000 compared with March 1 last year, the bureau of statistics reported.

The December-March quarter usually shows a smaller gain than other quarters. The 68,000 figure compares with increases of 90,000 from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1 last year, 104,000 from June 1 to Sept. 1, and 114,000 from March 1 to June 1.

The latest estimate indicates a gain of 683,000 or 4.9 per cent. in the 21 months from June 1, 1951, the date of the last census which recorded a population of 14,009,000.

Funny and Otherwise

The loud-mouthed roosters of Westland, Germany, North Sea island resort were banished to the mainland recently for the duration of the vacation season. Town officials said the roosters awoke guests too early and would be executed unless removed.

"Where's your ticket?" demanded the collector. The sleepy traveller opened an eye, looked at the collector, and closed it again.

"Now, then, where is it? Haven't you got one?"

"The traveller opened his other eye. Then he shook his head.

"All right," said the collector. "You'll have to pay. Five and six, please!" The sleeper took no notice. "Don't you hear me?" cried the collector. "Five-and-six!"

For a moment the weary eyes opened again. Then a slight dawning of intelligence broke upon the traveller's countenance, and he answered: "Eleven."

A coffee salesman was travelling through Alabama, and as he waited for a train in a small town he chatted with a lady-looking man sitting on a seat at the station.

"Ever drink coffee?" he inquired, with an eye to stirring up interest in his line.

The man admitted he drank a lot of coffee. Fifty cups a day.

"Fifty cups a day? Doesn't it keep you awake?" inquired the salesman.

"Well, it helps," answered the lady one.

A man had been trying to write a telegram with a pen provided by the post office. After two or three ineffectual starts he turned to the girl behind the counter and said: "Is this by any chance the pen used by King John at the signing of Magna Carta?"

The girl replied: "Inquiries on the right, sir!"

"So you suffer from indigestion?" asked the helpful friend. "Well, what could be better than drinking a pint of warm water after every meal?"

"Indigestion?"

Tommy was tired of the arithmetic lesson. He was waiting for the teacher to correct his sums so that he could go.

"Your last answer is wrong," the teacher said. "You must stay behind."

Tommy glanced at the clock. "How much am I out, sir?" he asked.

"Ten cents," was the reply.

Tommy put his hand in his pocket and produced the money.

"I'm in a hurry, sir," he said. "Do you mind if I pay the difference?"

"I'm only working two days a week, now." "Why, I thought you had a six-day-a-week job?"

"I heard the boss is out four days a week."

Mrs. Long: "Do you feel better this morning, Mrs. Short?" Mrs. Short: "I do, an' then again I don't."

Mrs. Long: "That's bad, for I don't know whether to say I'm sorry or glad."

"I trust, Miss Tappitt," said the kindly employer, his stenographer, "that you have something in reserve for a rainy day."

"Yes, sir," answered the young woman. "I'm going to marry a man named Mackintosh."

"Ma," said the little girl who was reading a geography book, "where is the state of matrimony?"

"That," said the mother, "is one of the united states."

Sport Programs Keep Boys Straight

MONTREAL.—Montreal police have used sports and other activities effectively to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Canada's largest city has one of the best records on the continent for keeping youngsters out of serious trouble.

Largely responsible are sports clubs founded 17 years ago by Assistant Inspector Ovide Pelletier of the Montreal Police Department.

Struck by the number of youngsters getting into trouble, he founded the clubs to give them an outlet for pent-up energies. He recruited his first members on street corners at the problem this way:

"Life is a game. The boy who plays his sport right is likely to play his life right. Our job is to help to show the way to 10 to 15 year olds."

APPETIZING RECIPES

This is a pie that will be welcome at any party or at Sunday dinner! It has a Strawberry Cheese filling in an easy Graham cracker crust.

STRAWBERRY CHEESECAKE
For the Graham cracker crust, combine 1½ cups Graham cracker crumbs (about 18 crackers), 2 tsp. sugar, ¼ tsp. nutmeg and ½ cup softened butter. Blend thoroughly.

Press crumbs firmly on bottom and sides of a 9-inch cake dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 6 minutes or till lightly browned. Cool.

For the filling you will need: One package lemon pie filling, ½ cup sugar, ½ tsp. salt, 1½ cups water, 1 egg, beaten; one 8-oz. package cream cheese, 1 tsp. plain gelatin, 2 tsp. cold water, ½ cup boiling water, 1 cup strawberry preserves.

Blend pie filling, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Gradually add 1½ cups water and the egg, mixing thoroughly. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Soften cream cheese; gradually stir in lemon mixture. Beat with a rotary egg beater until smooth.

Timber Wolf Population In Sask. Reduced

PRINCE ALBERT.—The days of the wily timber wolf in northern Saskatchewan are numbered.

According to Harold Read, northern game supervisor here, control programs carried out over the past two winters have sharply reduced the numbers of this ravenous predator, which destroys up to 30,000 caribou, deer, elk and moose annually in Saskatchewan.

The past winter's program rang the death knell for 229 adult and an estimated 650 unborn timber wolves, compared to about 400 adult and unborn wolves destroyed last year.

Mr. Read said best kills this winter occurred in a "buffer zone" reaching from the 39th parallel in Saskatchewan to the 41st parallel in the Northwest Territories, an area of roughly 40,000 square miles. Here, control measures were undertaken jointly by the provincial game branch and federal Department of Resources and Development.

Inside the zone, 51 bait sets destroyed 159 adult wolves (21 were found at one set). Further south, 78 sets accounted for only 70. Put out last February, the baits consisted of caribou meat impregnated with strychnine. They were located on isolated lakes to avoid poisoning forest-dwelling fur bearers and were destroyed prior to the spring ice break-up.

Wolf carcasses were also disposed of, except where used as bait. Mr. Read reported that at one point, just inside the Territories boundary, an estimated large pack of wolves had cleaned up a bait set, plus a freshly killed caribou, and were starting to eat their less fortunate kin. "All we could do was saturate these carcasses with strychnine in the hopes of getting more wolves," he said.

The past winter's program pointed up some interesting facts: 1. Many Saskatchewan timber wolves come originally from the Territories, usually with migrating caribou. 2. Most effective bait sets were those along caribou routes. 3. A Saskatchewan-Territories buffer zone is the best way to keep timber wolves out of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Read believed northern wolf control would continue "as long as the definite need to exist." He expected control measures would bring about a "sharp increase" in northern big game, just as deer along Saskatchewan's forest fringe region have multiplied as a result of 1080 coyote control.

Many Drivers Receive Penalties In Saskatchewan

REGINA.—During May this year 198 drivers had their licenses either revoked or suspended. This was more than double the figure for May, 1952.

The penalties were imposed for a number of reasons. Driving after drinking cost 91 motorists their licenses. Dangerous driving was punished in 33 cases. Last May only 10 were found guilty of this offence.

Colored licenses were issued to 265 motorists. After a first offence a driver's license is taken away and a blue one substituted. For another offence within a year a red one is substituted. If the red license is violated, the offender's license is usually revoked completely for a time.

Tired Driver Road Menace

Expert Urges Stimulant Every Two Hours On Trip

WASHINGTON.—A highway expert said the drowsy driver may be a greater menace than the drunken driver.

He offered some tips to help motorists stay awake—and stay alive. L. S. Harris, executive director of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, said there were nearly three times as many fatalities on country roads in 1952 as there were in city and village districts.

Timing this in with highway fatigue, Harris said the farther a driver travels the more tired and less alert he becomes. He said an Army survey showed fatigue was a factor in nearly 37 per cent. of 348 highway accidents involving non-military vehicles.

The Army, he said, tried an experiment in 1946, making GI drivers stop every two hours for a cup of coffee. The Army accident rate abruptly dropped 24 per cent. Harris recommends the Army formula for combating tiredness, particularly during the summer season.

It calls for:

1. Keeping car windows open and breathing deeply.

2. Drinking coffee or other beverages every two hours.

3. If a driver becomes drowsy, he should stop the car, get out and flex his muscles by walking around.

4. If possible, driver should be changed every four hours.

5. If not, a sleepy driver should pull off the highway and take a snooze.

Harris said he was worried about the months ahead, unless people wake up and drive right.

"When vacation time rolls around, the nation's highways will be crowded, as usual—beyond the limits of safety," he said. "These are the conditions that contributed to many of the 38,000 dead and 1,390,000 hurt in traffic accidents last year."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS ARE SAYING:

Recently a farmer wet-treated a full wagon box of oats for seeding the next day. It started to rain that night and continued throughout the next day. The oats were well soaked by then, and it was impossible to get on the land for a few days. In order to keep the seed from heating, the worried farmer poured on a few pails of cold water. That started the oats sprouting. Refusing to give up, he went ahead and planted the seed and was amazed to see the green shoots appearing the following day. If you don't believe it—try it.—The Valley Citizen, Rose Valley, Sask.

Watson is now one of the best lighted towns in the province with a total of 66 street lamps. Of these, 15 are 300 watt spherulite lamps just erected on 30 ft. poles and turned on for the first time on June 1st.—The Witness, Watson, Sask.

Always Use A Target

A recent Sports College survey revealed that when the average player throws to one of the bases for an attempted put-out play, he makes the mistake of just throwing it in the general direction of the base without aiming at any special target. This is a mistake that causes a great deal of the wild and inaccurate plays you see during a game, especially when there are a great many close plays to the bases. You see, it is a scientific fact that you will always throw more accurately if you throw at a definite target and not just in the general direction of a certain position, such as first base. A good rule to follow is this one, which by the way is the rule used by all the big leaguers. Here it is!

When throwing to the bases, always aim at a certain part of the player to whom you are throwing. If you are inclined to throw too high, aim at his hips. If you are inclined to throw too low, aim at the middle of his chest. Remember, it is better to throw a little too low than a little too high, because if the ball goes over the player's head the results are usually disastrous but if the throw is so low that it bounces, the player still has a chance to stop it before it gets past him, even though he is not able to make a good play on it. Remember, keep your eyes on either the chest or hips target and see how much it will help your throwing accuracy.

Pass Them Big

Here is a strategy tip from Mal Whitfield, winner of the 800 metre race in both the 1948 and 1952 Olympics, for you fellows running the middle distance races.

"I believe in 'passing big.' In other words, when you pass a man really go and keep going until you have opened up a few yards. By doing this you dishearten many runners and also utilize the momentum you develop when you break out. Why check this momentum?"

Yes, here is an excellent tip, which if followed closely can mean a lot to your winning efforts.

Honey Has High Rating With Trainers

A recent poll made by Sports College of athletic trainers in Canada, Europe and the United States showed the popularity of honey as a training food. More than 10 per cent, listed honey as their favourite, with many providing glowing reports of their experiences with it as a regular part of the training diet, as a "during activity" jack-up and as a replenisher after activity. Dr. T. K. Cureton, famous director of the physical education laboratory at Illinois University also mentions honey favourably.

So, remember, put honey on your training menu today!

Sports College, set up more than eight years ago to bring up-to-date information and the findings of its sports and fitness research to as wide an audience as possible, is a non-profit public service organization. It is dedicated to raising standards of fitness and sports efficiency of Canadian youth. The services of Sports College are open to anyone. ### IF EVERYONE TRAVELED THE SAME ROAD

If everyone traveled the selfsame road
With never a detour or a turn;
With never a jaunt over some distant hill,
Would the heart for adventure not yearn?

If everyone laboured like everyone else
With no change in routine or plan;
With no striving for progress or gain,
What would become of the soul of man?

It's the detours men take which leads on to truth,
Though the world goes its unseeing way;
It's the obscure turns in the well worn road
Which takes men to new goals each day.

It's the changes men make in the common task
Which breaks the work of its tiresome grind;
The inspiring thought of an adventurousome one
Gives incentive to hands and to mind.

So don't all travel the same old road,
Nor be stifled by routine's dull round;
There are still many detours and many strange turns
Where a new vision of life may be found.

On The Side : E. V. Durling

Should men have engagement rings? A young woman of New York thinks so. She says it will reveal to predatory females that the man is taken. I agree with her. If men are influenced to wear wedding rings, why shouldn't they have engagement rings? Who should pay for it? The girl, of course. One of the major thrills in the life of a young woman is displaying her engagement ring to her friends. Whether or not young men will be similarly thrilled is open to question.

Suitably Attired

In what type of garment do women look their best? In a tailored suit, of course. A man-tailored suit. A garment based on male ideas. Men know the value of simplicity. Left to their own devices, women originate and wear a wide variety of strange looking garments. All wives would be much better dressed if they paid more attention to the opinion of their husbands as to what to wear. Men understand proportion. Women have style ideas that have a tendency to make them conspicuous. Of course, it could be that is what many of them enjoy.

Pitfall in Marriage

There have been many claims that twin beds endanger married happiness. Now the same thing is being said of double beds. However, the double beds are not entirely blamed. It is the sheets used for such beds. It is said most sheets for double beds are not wide enough. This results in one of the matrimonial partners pulling the sheets off the other. This inspires anger on the part of the one uncovered. That leads to a nasty remark and brings on domestic discord. Whether or not there is anything to this claim, I am not at the moment prepared to say. I will check on it. However, in the meantime be on the safe side. Get over-sized sheets for your double bed.

Fight and Be Happy

It was Arthur Richman who said, "When a woman refuses to quarrel with a man, it means she is tired of him. True lovers fight back." . . . Blue-eyed brunettes are the greatest man tames. Most women of this type dominate their husbands. Takes a man of great intelligence and very strong character to subdue a blue-eyed brunette.

Forecasting Height

At birth, the weight of a child is always reported. Height is not mentioned. However, don't forget to determine the height at birth of your next child. By that, you can determine whether or not the youngster will be short or tall upon becoming an adult. The height at birth is about 30 per cent of what it will be when the infant becomes an adult. As for example: if it is a boy and measures between 21 and 22 inches at birth, he will be a six-footer at 19.

Between Brothers

Have been looking at a news picture of a younger brother greeting an older brother on the latter's return from Korea. A very touching scene. The devotion between brothers seems greater than that between sisters. Especially in cases where one brother is four or five years older than the other. Dates back to childhood, the quickest way you could get into a fight in many neighborhoods is to do something wrong to some other fellow's kid brother.

ANIMALS ARE DEER—Edward Yankow, former Chicago policeman quit his better-paying job on the force to return as a keeper at the Lincoln Park Zoo. He gave in to his love for animals. Yankow claims they are more human than humans.

ODDITIES In The News

Rev. A. W. E. Carr, a Methodist minister at Auckland, N.Z., raises money for church programs by swallowing razor blades, escaping from trunks and performing other "magic" tricks. He has raised thousands of dollars by his entertainments.

A person eluded his vicarage at Odense, Denmark, for nearly half an hour recently as he returned home after having passed a driving test. He said he had forgotten how to stop his car.

Captain, a five-year-old collie-shepherd, beat the rap for bating his master's landlord when the latter came to collect the rent. Municipal Judge Gerald C. Kepple of Los Angeles, freed the dog when the defence attorney pleaded that "every dog is entitled to one free bite."

A Vancouver youth who wore two pairs of trousers was one of four shoplifters convicted and fined in court here. Others explained the inner pair, with cuffs tied tight at the bottom, was used to hold stolen groceries.

John and Harry Rudzinski of Hammond, Ind., were millionaires for a few minutes recently. A bank teller gave them a money order made out for $1,000,021. When the brothers discovered the error they rushed back to the bank for the correct voucher, one for $21.

When Mrs. Simon Glaser of Portland, Me., was pouring coffee for a bridge guest a spoon fell to the floor. "That's a sure sign visitors are coming," one of her guests said. Moments later an automobile sped across Mrs. Glaser's lawn and crashed into the house. No one was injured.

Ten Word INTELLIGRAM

Check the correct word.

1. "Hamlet" was (Danish) (British).

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

PAUL'S FIELD OF SERVICE WIDENED

When Paul saw the light on his way to Damascus, we are told he was not "disobedient unto the Heavenly vision."

It does not matter how God's call comes to us, whether in Heavenly visions or through normal, human impulses. The important thing is that no matter how it comes, it is by obedience only that we find a way to contribute our greatest service.

Paul the persecutor could have only partly realized at the time of his conversion that the mission for which God called him was one of great magnitude. His conversion meant that he was breaking away from the old associations. His future, to say the least, was uncertain. He was accepting all the risks and dangers of a new way of life.

But there was no uncertainty in Paul himself. He threw himself into the business of being a Christian with the same intensity with which he formerly persecuted his new brethren.

Nor was there any incompleteness in Paul's conversion. It was from the pagan city of Antioch, the place where the disciples were first called "Christians," that Paul began his journeys as a missionary.

His first journey was small in comparison to his later travels. His companion on that first journey was Barnabas, the same man who endorsed Paul when the disciples at Jerusalem were inclined to fear and distrust him.

Accompanying them was a young man named John whose surname was Mark. Later this companion was the cause of a sharp controversy between Paul and Barnabas. Paul refused to take him on the next trip.

But in defense of John Mark, it may be said that Paul, for whom no danger was too great or terrifying may have been too exacting a leader.

The world owes a great debt to this John Mark because later he wrote the Gospel of Mark. It is the simplest and most direct of the Gospels and gives us a valuable portrayal of the Master's life and work.
